

Section 5

UK Entities Whose ‘Climate Emergency’ Policies Need to be Challenged

5. UK Entities Whose ‘Climate Emergency’ Policies Need to be Challenged

Name of organisation	Website link	Further information (some of which may be lifted directly from the organisation it describes).
UK100	https://www.uk100.org/	UK100’s primary purpose is to support a local-led rapid transition to Net Zero and Clean Air. We do this through collaboration. To accelerate action, we believe in bringing together the most influential leaders across the country to learn together and agree on priorities for legislative and regulatory change while empowering them to engage with national decision-makers. We provide our network with the knowledge, tools and connections to make this happen.
C40 Cities	https://www.c40.org/	A global network of mayors taking urgent action to confront the climate crisis and create a future where everyone can thrive.
ARUP	https://www.arup.com/offices/united-kingdom	Arup was founded by Ove Arup in 1946. Today, we are 6,000 strong in the UK, working on local, national and international projects. We are a professional services firm with a focus on the built environment and we work closely and collaboratively with our clients to develop the solutions they need today – and tomorrow. We bring deep expertise in strategy, design, planning and engineering, and our project portfolio ranges from the UK Government’s heat decarbonisation programme, to the design of new

cancer treatment centres and playing a central role in engineering a more resilient rail network.

World Resources Institute <https://www.wri.org>

WRI is a global research organization that works with governments, businesses, multilateral institutions and civil society groups to develop practical solutions that improve people's lives and ensure nature can thrive. We organize our work around seven global challenges: Food, Forests, Water, Energy, Climate, the Ocean and Cities. We analyze these issues through the lenses of our four Centers of Excellence: Business, Economics, Finance and Equity.